Timothy Jacob Wise (born 4 October 1968) better known as Tim Wise, is a Jewish Europhobic agitator and Cultural Marxist propagandist involved in the pseudoacademic school of critical race theory. Along with his co-tribalist, Noel Ignatiev, he is one of the main propagandists openly advocating the genocide of ethnic Europeans (which he dresses up as attacking so-called "White privilege"). He is an anti-White pusher of the 'White privilege' myth and Whiteness studies. He has spoken at over 600 college campuses in the US and his anti-White rhetoric has had a far reaching impact across Western nations and has permeated most of our educational institutions. The vast majority of White and non-White students have been taken in by his blatant poisonous anti-White agenda. The education system is a never ending cycle of this kind of propaganda. As one of the Cultural Marxists who helped to successfully push the ultra-PC concepts of "White privilege" and "institutional racism", Wise became well-known to friends and foes alike. Wise's efforts at demonizing Whites were complemented by his vigorous defenses of racial preferences for blacks ("affirmative action"). Some of his written anti-White propaganda include: •White Like Me •Great White Hoax •Affirmative Action: Racial Preference in Black and White •Speaking Treason Fluently: Anti-Racist Reflections from an Angry White Male The titles of these books should be enough for anybody to establish exactly what the agenda of this individual is. He is a dedicated liar and manipulator of public opinion among Whites who are his primary target. The lunacy of the 'White privilege' lie should make White people reject this anti-White, I've said it before but it needs saying again. When you look in the mirror as a working class White man or woman do you see yourself as privileged because of the fact you are White? So-called 'White privilege' is a myth perpetuated by people like (((Tim Wise))) who hate White people. Do you as a parent of White children see your children as being privileged in a negative sense because they are White? We should be proud of who we are and who they are and of the achievements of our ancestors. But for them to succeed in life, will be a result of their own hard work and endeavour and not the Cultural Marxist narrative of 'White privilege' espoused by people like Wise. Do you look at every White person in the street and see this mythical 'White privilege?' And do any of you White people feel some sort of ridiculous self-imposed guilt for this supposed 'White Privilege?' If you do then it is because you have been lied to and brainwashed into thinking that way because of the anti-White agenda that is behind it. Why would anybody allow their hard work, dedication, intelligence and ambition to be called a 'privilege' based on a negative criticism of their race, and further allow it to become a tool to turn them against their own people? Somehow I don't think too many White working class people across the West see themselves as being 'privileged' standing in the dole queue or relying on food banks to feed them and their families. No, the 'White privilege' lie is aimed at further undermining the White race so that it becomes passive to its ongoing demographic decimation. Furthermore, how can White people be 'privileged' in society compared to non-Whites, when our homelands are historically racially and culturally White, built by our forefathers and defended by them for centuries. Should we allow ourselves to become 'under privileged' in our own ancestral homelands just to appease the genocidal anti-White fantasy? All of this is being achieved via a sophisticated network of subversion pushed through the media, academia and the music and entertainment industries. People like Tim Wise like to speak of 'equality' 'tolerance' 'diversity' and 'anti racism', and while many of us see right through these subversive terms and slogans, unfortunately many Whites do not. As is always the case, the real agenda of people like Wise is never far behind the socially 'acceptable' catchphrases that they like to hide behind. Mr Wise recently let the cat out of the bag. On November 3rd, 2010, Tim Wise published a vitriolic hate-filled rant, targeted at Whites. In it, he openly mocked and demonized Whites, and gloated about their impending minority status. The title of the article is An Open Letter to the White Right...On the Occasion of Your Temper Tantrum Excerpts:

Whatever the case, and whatever your economic station, know this... You need to drink up. And quickly. And heavily. Because your time is limited. Real damned limited. So party while you can, but mind the increasingly loud clock ticking away in the corners of your consciousness. The clock that reminds you how little time you and yours have left. Not much more now. Tick, tock. Tick, tock. Tick. Tock. Your kind mostly older White folks beholden to an absurd, inaccurate, nostalgic fantasy of what America used to be like — are dying. You're like the bad guy in every horror movie ever made, who gets shot five times, or stabbed ten, or blown up twice, and who will eventually pass — even if it takes four sequels to make it happen — but who in the meantime keeps coming back around, grabbing at our ankles as we walk by, we having been mistakenly convinced that you were finally dead this time. And in the pantheon of American history, conservative old White people have pretty much always been the bad guys ... Unlike, say, the bald eagle or some exotic species of muskrat, you are not worth saving. And [Leftists] know how to regroup, and plot, and plan, and they are planning even now — we are — your destruction. Do you hear it? The sound of your empire dying? Your nation, as you knew it, ending, permanently? Because I do, and the sound of its demise is beautiful.

No charges for hate crimes or incitement to genocide have yet been filed against Wise, but that isn't surprising considering he is doing the tribes work. A very interesting debate between Jared Taylor and the anti-White Tim Jacob Wise on the "merits of racial diversity".
